

Senator Manchin's staff annually hosts Common Sense Connections Week, which serves to bring your government directly to you. Staff visit all 52 counties in one week and relay your comments to the senator so he can put them to use in Washington. This year, due to limitations from the pandemic, we are hosting Common Census Connections in order to raise awareness and increase response for the 2020 census.

“ When you respond to the 2020 Census, you help keep tax dollars here in the state and help inform how billions of dollars in federal funding flows into communities across West Virginia, including money for schools, hospitals and health clinics, roads, public transportation, and other vital services. If we don't respond to the Census, we will miss out on important federal funds that make our communities stronger. Every person in West Virginia that does not respond to the Census equates to $20,000 lost in federal funds for West Virginia and our communities over the next ten years. If 100 people do not respond, that's $2 MILLION lost in federal funds to West Virginia over the next ten years. We simply can't afford that. So please, Be Counted and respond to the census today. ”
